

Associate Membership Scheme

Thank you for expressing an interest in the above scheme. Your contribution will assist Explore in continuing and developing its programme in schools and prisons.

Why is Explore's work so important?

- The family is the basic building block of society and when families break down all of society suffers. The direct cost of such breakdown is estimated to be £41 billion each year.
- Half of all sixteen year olds today have been affected by family breakdown with all its consequential distress and trauma.
- Paradoxically, family life in general and marriage in particular, remains crucially inspirational for very many people.

How does Explore operate?

- Stressing the importance of marriage, it brings young people and married couples together for an open dialogue within an educational environment.
- In allowing the young people to examine the actual experience of married couples, they are enabled to recognise the critical importance of lasting relationships in family life.

Explore's impact

During 2011 – 12 over 5,700 students took part in Explore class sessions and workshops, bringing the total of participants since 2000 to just under 40,000 from 170 schools and 12 prisons.
